

Perka the Coyote and the Road Runner

Episode: Envy

“You know, Road Runner, I could have been a doctor instead of working in aviation for thirty years. And now I’d be appearing on all kinds of TV shows... and sooo... I’d be famous. Like that doctor Obdaria.”

The Road Runner stayed silent for a few seconds.

“Well, don’t worry. People like you aren’t really needed on television.”

Perka flinched.

“Why?!”

“Because even though you know very little about airplanes, you could never talk about something you know absolutely nothing about. And if you were a professor... that would be even less likely.”

He paused.

“And that Obdaria of yours... everything she says is just a little... and completely stupid.”

Silence.

Perka stared at him without blinking.

The Road Runner reached for his beer.

One unspoken thought lingered in the air: poison can be added to beer too.